

Working to make El Paso a no-kill community!

OUR MISSION

Founded in 2001, Pets Alive-El Paso works to stop the killing of adoptable animals in El Paso animal shelters by promoting spaying/neutering, by providing free spay/neuter services to low-income pet guardians and by administering a trap-neuter release program for feral cats.

STATISTICALLY SPEAKING

To the right are photos of several feral cats recently trapped, vaccinated and sterilized through our feral cat program. We are very grateful that, thanks to your contributions, we were able to assist in their care and prevent the births of further feral litters.

Those are just a few of our recent clients, however. In 2011, we spayed and neutered 1534 dogs and cats who would otherwise not have been sterilized.

We could not have accomplished this without the support of you, our caring donors. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

RECENT EVENTS

Here are just a few of the great portraits — most cropped here due to space — which we took in December at our Photos With Santa fundraiser.

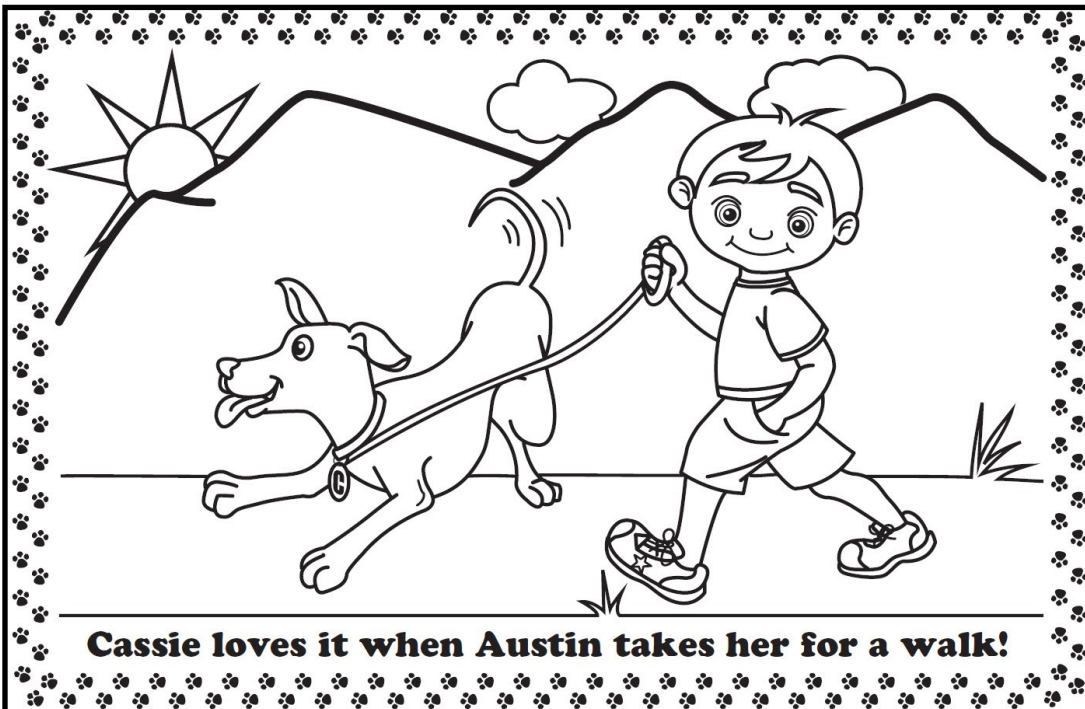

We would like to thank Pet's Barn for hosting and promoting this fundraiser, all the great volunteers who helped out and, above all, all of you who came out with your pets to take part in this fun holiday event!

FUN FACTS: HEARTBEATS!

How many times a minute does your heart beat when you are sitting still?

- An average kid's heart beats 60 to 110 times a minute.
- A dog's heart beats 70 to 160 times a minute, depending on the dog's size. (Smaller dogs' hearts beat faster.)
- A cat's heart beats 160 to 240 times a minute — possibly twice as fast as yours, or faster!

RIDDLE: What is a cat's favorite color?

Answer: Furr--r--ple!
